Acknowledgements

The authors, editors and collaborators on this National Project are grateful to the many women who contributed to this project.

Funding for the national project was provided by the Women's Health Bureau, Health Canada. A number of staff members at the Bureau made significant contributions to the project. The Rural Health Office, Health Canada provided additional funding for the project. The Institute for Gender and Health, Canadian Institutes for Health Research provided a grant to Ivy Bourgeault, PhD which was used for five of the focus groups, and the Institute provided a separate grant to the project's National Consultation.

This project was first conceived by the Executive Directors of the Centres of Excellence for Women's Health, particularly Lorraine Greaves and Gina Feldberg. Marilou McPhedran and Margaret Haworth-Brockman provided extensive direction to all aspects of the project as it unfolded.

Barbara Neis was a gracious chair for the Research Steering Committee. Barbara also provided many additional suggestions and advice which kept the project running smoothly.

Ivy Bourgeault kindly assembled and analysed most of the English-language data. Christine Dallaire did the same for the French-language data and translated her work to English.

Pamela Wakewich gave her time and resources in the early stages and as the first chair of the Research Steering Committee. Pamela arranged for the Roundtable to be part of the 2001 Rural Health Research meetings and with Barbara Parker, developed an overview of the available literature for our discussion.

Karima Hashmani spent hours on all aspects of this project. Thank you Karima. Logistical support was also provided by Janine Cocker, Zesta Kim and Wendy Winters at the National Networks for Environments and Women's Health, and by Pamela Chalmers, Diane Nicholson, Joan Martin, Joanne Havelock and Molly McCracken of the Prairie Women's Health Centre of Excellence. Other important assistants are noted in individual sections of this Report.

Special thanks to Rebecca Sutherns who wrote so much of the Final Report.

Barbara Neis, Lana Sullivan and members of the Research Committee made many helpful suggestions for the Final Report. Carole Carlson of Semantique very capably translated most portions of the final manuscript, and Louise Grouette Stockwell and Jacques Boulet of Éditique oversaw layout and design.

Thank you also to the focus group facilitators. They provided many helpful suggestions about how to proceed and reflections for improving the next steps.

The women who took part in the focus groups and those who came to the National Consultation deserve special mention. They gave their time, their experiences and their knowledge of the issues. Some travelled for two days each way just to get to Saskatoon in March 2003. Thank you.
